

Re-Architecting the Brokerage Platform for Resilience, Trust, and Scalable Market Growth

Strategy to the Technical Team

A CONCERNED CUSTOMER

Meritrade NGX Nexus -Institutional-Grade Digital Brokerage Platform

This is a high-performance, web and mobile brokerage platform engineered for secure, real-time trading on the Nigerian Exchange (NGX).

The platform combines low-latency market connectivity, deterministic order management, advanced analytics, and AI-assisted decision support within a compliance-first architecture.

Designed to address structural weaknesses observed in legacy brokerage systems — including performance instability, login/session failures, weak audit traceability, and limited analytics — NGX Nexus delivers institutional-grade reliability for retail and professional investors.

The “Let’s Grow Wealth Together” Message.

Our Observation

The Nigerian retail capital market remains structurally under-digitized relative to global brokerage standards. While platforms such as Meritrade provide basic web and mobile trading access to Nigerian equities, recurring operational, technical, and governance limitations constrain scalability, trust, and user retention.

The platform operates primarily as a basic trade execution interface, rather than a resilient, analytics-driven, compliance-optimized digital brokerage ecosystem.

There is a structural gap between:- User expectation (global fintech standards) and Current system architecture, reliability, and intelligence layer

NGX Market Analysis Summary: DANGCEM, MTNN, ZENITHBANK 1. Dangote Cement PLC (DANGCEM) Market Sentiment: Bullish/Strategic. DANGCEM remains a primary driver of the NGX market capitalization. Sentiment is buoyed by its dominant market share and the ongoing share buyback program, which provides a price floor and enhances shareholder value. Investors view it as a hedge against inflation given its pricing power. Risk Assessment: High exposure to energy cost fluctuations (diesel and gas) and FX volatility impacting imported inputs. Macroeconomic slowdown affecting infrastructure spending poses a demand-side risk. Movement Indicators: Updates on the Tranche share buyback phases, quarterly cement volume disclosures, and government infrastructure budget implementation. Market Sentiment: Cautious/Recovery-Focused. reported in recent audited financials, which led to a wipe remains positive due to robust growth in data revenue and Risk Assessment: Severe vulnerability to Naira devaluation and capital expenditure. Regulatory risks regarding SIM- Movement Indicators: CBN foreign exchange liquidity potential capital raising or debt restructuring announcement (ZENITHBANK) Market Sentiment: Bullish/In confidence as a "Dividend Aristocrat." The sentiment is in interest-rate environment, which bolsters Net Interest Margin during the banking sector recapitalization exercise. Bank of Nigeria's (CBN) "windfall tax" on FX gains. Asset high interest rates pressure corporate borrowers' repayment parity relative to fixed-income rates, updates on the market and MPR (Monetary Policy Rate) adjustments by the CBN Primary Risk | DANGCEM | MTNN | Cautious | Data & Fintech Growth | FX Trade & Dividends | Recapitalization Dilution |

AI Market Insight

Market Sentiment Analysis: DANGCEM, MTNN, ZENITHBANK ### 1. Dangote Cement PLC (DANGCEM)
Summary: Sentiment remains largely Bullish but Price-Sensitive. As the most capitalized stock on the NGX, it serves as a bellwether for the industrial sector. The stock has benefited from institutional demand and historical share buyback programs which provide a floor for the share price. Despite macro-headwinds, its capacity for price leadership in the cement sub-sector sustains investor confidence.
Risk Assessment: High exposure to energy cost inflation (AGO and Gas) and foreign exchange volatility affecting imported inputs. A slowdown in federal infrastructure spending due to fiscal constraints poses a volume risk.
Movement Indicators: Announcements regarding the next tranche of the Share Buyback Program, quarterly EBITDA margin stability, and shifts in national infrastructure budgetary allocations.
2. MTN Nigeria Communications PLC (MTNN)
Summary: Sentiment is currently Cautious/Mixed. While MTNN maintains dominant market share and robust top-line growth in data and fintech (MoMo PSB), significant foreign exchange losses have severely impacted its bottom line, leading to a depleted retained earnings position. Investors are weighing long-term digital growth against short-term balance sheet repair.
Risk Assessment: Sustained Naira depreciation causing further unrealized FX losses on USD-denominated obligations. Regulatory pressures and the high cost of CAPEX for 5G expansion amidst high interest rates.
Movement Indicators: FX stability, updates on tower lease renegotiations, and Central Bank of Nigeria (CBN) policy shifts regarding capital repatriation and telecom tariff adjustments.
3. Zenith Bank PLC (ZENITHBANK)
Summary: Sentiment is Strongly Bullish, supported by its Tier-1 status and "dividend aristocrat" reputation. The bank continues to benefit from the high interest rate environment (Net Interest Margin expansion) and significant revaluation gains from its net long foreign currency position. The transition to a Holding Company (HoldCo) structure is viewed positively for diversification.
Risk Assessment: The ongoing CBN recapitalization exercise may lead to equity dilution if the bank opts for a rights issue or public offer. Potential "windfall tax" on FX gains by the federal government remains a systemic threat to net profit retention.
Movement Indicators: Progress on capital raising to meet the N500 billion minimum requirement, interim dividend declarations, and the trajectory of the Monetary Policy Rate (MPR).
